CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE BURIED IN WASHINGTON

Simple Ceremony Marks Last Rites To Late U. S. Official.

SALUTES FIRED

Honor Paid To Memory Of Edward Douglas White All Over World.

Washington, May 21.—With the same lack of ostentation that marked his long and useful life, Edward Douglas White, ninth chief justice of the United States supreme court, was laid to his long rest today.

The last services for the noted jurist were impressive in their simplicity, in keeping with the character of Justice White as Washington had learned to know it in the more than 30 years of his official life here. Save for the presence of the highest officials of the government, the president, the vice president, members of the cabinet, Senators and Representatives, officers of the army and navy and foreign diplomats, the funeral of the late justice today might well have been that of any other Catholic citizen well beloved by his fellow men.

Only the flags drooping at half mast in the misty May sunshine and the quiet which prevailed around governmental departments and courts closed in honor of the dead, gave mute testimony of the sorrow of official Washington at the passing of one of its greatest members, one who had served the government well for more than three decades.

SORROW IS Spoken.

All over the world wherever the American flag flies today, the government officially spoke its sorrow at the death of Justice White. American army posts from Alaska to Panama, from China to the Rhine, fired a salute of seventeen guns in his honor at 8 o'clock this morning.

Navy posts and every warship on the seas which could be reached with wireless orders did likewise. In every country, where the United States maintains official representation, the flag hangs at half mast and will continue to do so for thirty days.

The simple services were conducted from St. Mathews Church but a few blocks from the home of the late justice in Rhode Island Avenue. It would not hold a tenth of those who sought admission to do final honor to the memory of the chief justice.

Members of the family, higher officials of the government and the intimate friends of the dead jurist made up the company who found places inside the church. Many unable to gain admission stood respectfully in the outer sunshne until the services were over.

CLOSE FRIEND OF Deceased.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Thomas S. Lee, rector of the church, was celebrant of the high mass of requiem. He had been a close friend and neighbor of the chief justice for many years. They had much in common. Chief Justice White was descended from a long line of distinguished jurists and Catholic pioneers in Louisiana. The celebrant, Monsignor Lee, likewise typified the old Catholic life of the nearby state of Maryland, being a great grand son of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, last survivor of the signers of the declaration of independence.

The final requiem was in keeping with the simplicity of Justice White's spiritual life. Participating in the simple service were Jesuit priests from Georgetown college, one of whom but a few days ago administered the last rites of the church to the dying justit. Thus the church's last benison was given—the last de profundis was sung—over the body of the ninth chief justice of the United States.

Following the conclusion of the brief services at St. Mathews the body was taken to Oaklawn cemetery in Georgetown for burial. Accompanying it as honorary pallbearers were the eight surviving members of the supreme court—Justices McKenna, Holmes, Day, VanDevanter, Pitney, McReynolds, Brandeis and Clark, the first three of whom had served on the bench with the dead justice upward of 20 years.

Others who followed the body of the distinguished jurist to its last resting place were the members of the select committee of the senate and house, headed by Vice President Coolidge and Speaker Gillett, and the full congressional delegation from his native state of Louisiana.

EX-KING MANUEL LOOKS WITH FAVOR ON TENNIS CHAMP

Paris, May 21.—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal has a new sweetheart in the person of Mlle. Lenglen, woman tennis champion of the world, according to the latest Paris gossip, but Mlle. Lenglen laughingly denied it today.

The former Portuguese monarch and Mlle. Lenglen were paired together in the recent tennis tournament at Cannes and it was noticed that Manuel paid more than passing attention to his fair partner, both on the courts and off.

"I am not bothering about any sweethearts just now and particularly royal ones," said Mlle. Lenglen. "My only love is the tennis racket. I have no other."

GRAIN GROWERS CORPORATION IS RULED AGAINST

U. S. Grain Growers Inc. Not Lawful In Ohio Rules Smith.

American Farm Bureau Notified Of Stand Just Taken.

REASON IS GIVEN

Columbus, May 21. Secretary of State Smith has informed Attorney Clifford Thore, general counsel for the American farm bureau federation that the United States Grain Growers, Inc., adopted by the marketing committee of 17 of the American farm bureau federation, cannot operate in Ohio because such operation would constitute violation of the Ohio corporation law.

"A foreign corporation, not for profit, cannot qualify under the laws of the state," said Secretary Smith. "It is objectionable for the reason that a domestic organization is not permitted to deal or own and buy stock of other organizations in this state only as an incidental matter and not as a part of its principal purpose," he continued.

"This will not deprive Ohio of taking part in the marketing movement," commented C. A. Dyer, of the Ohio State Farm Bureau Federation. "We will go ahead and organize cooperative elevators under the direction of the federation and thus secure business cooperation in various localities where sufficient grain will warrant their establishment."

Dye said a finance company is being formed to properly finance all farmers' marketing undertakings, such as grain, livestock, wool, milk vegetables and fruits.

ARTERIES SEVERED BY WOMAN AND MAN IN HOLDUP

Victim Of Assault In Columbus In Serious Condition.

Columbus, O., May 21.—That a woman, searching his pockets, exclaimed: "Aw, Hell, chicken feed," when she found he had only 35 cents is the story told by David Golden, who was taken to Protestant hospital, with arteries in both wrists severed.

Golden said he was crossing the Fifth Avenue bridge when the woman and a man stopped him. The man he said, held a razor at Golden's throat while the woman snatched his trousers pockets. Then the fellow began slashing at Golden who dropped his hands, resulting in the severed arteries. The couple escaped. Golden, who was found by passersby, is believed to be in a serious condition, due to loss of blood.

FATHER HELPLESS AS BOYS CAUGHT IN FALL

Piqua, May 21.—While their father looked on helpless, John Jr., Shackleford, 6, and Charles Shackleford, 5, of Piqua, were washed away, and the latter drowned when a 150-foot wall of the mixing chambers of a filtration plant in Grand Rapids, Mich., collapsed Friday releasing 1,000,000 gallons of water.

John Shackleford, 40, excavating engineer for the Murray and Hennessy contracting firm which is building a filtration plant addition, who is father of the boys, witnessed the sight, helpless. The older boy was saved, and the body of the younger recovered, after he had met death by drowning. The two boys, with a third who has not been found, were wading in shallow water when the wall collapsed. They went to Grand Rapids from Piqua two weeks ago.

CAUGHT IN "BLUEBEARDESS'S" NET

Mrs. Lydia Trueblood Southard, twenty-seven years old, is under arrest in Honolulu awaiting return to Twin Falls, Idaho, where she will be tried for the alleged murder of her fourth husband, Edward Meyer, of Idaho. According to the authorities, Mrs. Southard is suspected of the murder of six persons by poisoning. Four of the alleged victims were former husbands of the woman, one a brother-in-law and the other a baby by their first marriage. Mrs. Southard is now the wife of Paul Southard, a petty officer in the Navy and stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaiian Islands. She married Southard in Los Angeles in November of last year, one month after the mysterious death of her fourth husband. The alleged victims of the suspected "Bluebeardess" are:

(1) Edward Dooley, of Keytesville, Mo., brother-in-law by Mrs. Southard's first marriage. He died in Twin Falls, Idaho, in 1915.

(2) Robert Dooley, husband No. 1. Died in Twin Falls, in 1915.

(3) Baby Dooley, died in Twin Falls in 1915.

(4) William G. McHaffey, husband No. 2. Died in Hardin, Mont., in 1918.

(5) Harlan C. Lewis, husband No. 3. Died in Billings, Mont., in 1919.

Aphasia Victim Learns He Has Family And Fortune

J. W. Counts Missing For Four Years, Found Working As Hospital Orderly By Brother-in-Law—Efforts To Refresh Memory Fail.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 21.—That he has a fortune between $200,000 and a half million dollars, a wife and children at Houston, Texas, was the startling information received by J. W. Counts, aphasia victim held in the local jail by the authorities. Its all news to him, Counts declares who has been missing from home four years and was given up as dead until his brother-in-law James W. Gillespie, a Texas oil man, encountered him upon the street yesterday, induced him to take him back to Texas in hope that once familiar faces and scenes and there had him retained.

Efforts to refresh Counts' memory have been futile, he remembers no farther back than the 1919 world series at Chicago. When found here he was working as an orderly in a local hospital. Counts complains of constant neuralgia pains in his head. He is as anxious as his relatives to clear up the mystery of his life and it is likely arrangements will be made to take him back to Texas in hope that once familiar faces and scenes and there had him retained.

On Thursday Mrs. Miller left the maid alone in the house. When she returned clothing, jewelry and other articles of value were stolen.

William Oden, a neighbor remembered seeing a woman take numerous articles from the house and load them into a limousine. Yesterday his brother saw the same car driving on Sheridan Road, a fashionable thoroughfare. He recognized Mrs. Miller's "maid" and caused her arrest.

In Mrs. Heil's luxurious north shore home was found a boudoir where not even her husband was allowed to enter. In this the police found scores of articles which were identified by Mrs. Miller and others as having been stolen from their homes by the "maid." Pawn tickets for several articles also were found.

On Thursday Mrs. Miller left the maid alone in the house. When she returned clothing, jewelry and other articles of value were stolen.

Meanwhile police and medical authorities seek to solve the riddle presented by Mrs. Heil, whose arrest has revealed a dual career as society woman and "Raffles." The theory held by police and by physicians who have examined her is that she is a victim of kleptomania, induced by an automobile accident sustained several months ago.

"I had no reason to thieve," Mrs. Heil cried piteously at detention home No. 1. "My husband is the best man in the world. He gave me everything I could possibly want. It was an obsession. I never knew I had taken things until I would see them about my home. I was ashamed afterwards. I would hide things. Those I could not hide I would plain away to my family. Then I had given her $300 per month for 'pin money' and in addition had given her checks for various sums at different times.

Heil said he had known his wife was away from home a great deal during the day but had understood she was attending auctions. Articles which she brought home, he said she told him she had purchased at auctions. Several times Heil declared he had given his wife checks to pay for goods she had bought at auctions.

"I don't know why she has done this terrible thing," Heil said, "but I'll stick by her to the end." Mrs. Heil is the mother of four children, one of them a daughter who is married. It was revealed after her arrest that she is again about to become a mother.

Heil is reputed to be a millionaire and is said to have paid tax this year on an income of $155,000.

Mrs. Heil, according to relatives, was in an automobile accident several months ago that left her in chronic ill health. Members of her family believe that the strange malady that led her to steal was brought on by suffering induced by this accident.

The arrest of Mrs. Heil followed the theft of several thousand dollars worth of valuables from the home of Mr. Miller. Mrs. Heil had presented herself at the Miller home on Tuesday in response to an advertisement for a maid. She presented references and was engaged.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB NOW HAS OVER 200 MEMBERS ON LIST

That the Greene County Automobile Club now has more than 200 members and that its membership roster is steadily growing, is the report of its Secretary, F. J. Slackford.

Auto owners of Bowersville, Cedarville and Yellow Springs are enthusiastically supporting the club, and are now planning on having banquets to further the membership drive.

The first banquet, held at Jamestown, some time ago was a distinct success, as was the banquet staged at Paintersville later. Now the three towns named are racing to see which will be the first to get its banquet plans settled and will invite auto owners to hear the plan explained.

The proposed automobile picnic to be held jointly between the Greene and Fayette County Clubs, is assured, and only the date and final plans have not yet been set. Committees of the two organizations are now working on the final plans for the picnic, which will be held at Rosemoor, as the places most convenient to members of both clubs.

WANT STATISTICS ON ENCUMBERED PROPERTY FOR U. S.

For the purpose of securing complete and accurate information on which to base United States census statistics, the Department of Commerce, is requesting that Xenia people supply requests for statistics on encumbered property for which questionnaires were sent out some time ago.

The census requires the Director of the Department of Commerce to collect statistics concerning the number of farms and homes that are encumbered and the amount of the encumbrance thereon. The enumerators who were employed in the rural districts collected this data for the farms, but it was impracticable for the enumerators in the cities to secure reports on this subject. For this reason, circulars have been sent to all persons reported by the enumerators as owning city homes subject to encumbrance.

Circular letters on this subject have been mailed to citizens of Xenia but only a few replies have been received in Washington. It will of course be necessary for the Census Bureau to compile statistics based upon this small number of reports, but the results will not be indicative of actual conditions existing here, and it is to be hoped that more information will be given the Bureau at once.

The information furnished in reply to these questionnaires is treated as strictly confidential and is used exclusively for the purpose of compiling the statistics. No publication will be made whereby the figures of any individual can be identified.

PLAN COUNTY FAIR AT WILMINGTON

With a stock issue of $25,000 being taken up rapidly by enthusiastic investors, it is now assured that Wilmington will have a county fair this year.

The buildings at the fairground, which have not been in use since W. J. Galvin, Lima newspaper man, held his last "Red Letter" fair there six years ago, are now being repaired for the new 1921 fair. Plans are being laid for a complete agricultural exhibit, but much attention will also be given the racing card. Dr. I. N. Cook of Sabina well-known horseman, is pushing the fair proposition. Mr. Cook is the owner of Power Patch, 2:03 1-2 out of Effie Powers, 2:18 1-4 and descendant of Dan Patch, 1:55 1-4, the world's harness title holder.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE GETS 13 TO 5 WIN

Antioch College baseball team defeated Wilmington college at Wilmington. Friday afternoon, 13-5.

One big inning featured the attack of Yellow Springs' pastimes who mixing hits and taking advantage of errors, annexed nine markers in the third stanza. Bales' hefty first baseman of the up-county athletes, smashed out a home run, and then combined headwork and clever base running for another full journey, when he bunted and made the circuit on the intended sacrifice.

Frank Chambliss of this city pitched for the Antioch lads, with Harold Little behind the bat. Lynn Northrup, regular backstopper, was not in his accustomed place, owing to an injury sustained Thursday evening, when a ball struck him on the spine. The Quaker battery was Dodd and Farnham.

GOES TO COLUMBUS ON BUSINESS FOR TWO ORGANIZATIONS

Secretary F. J. Slackford, of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Greene County Automobile club went to Columbus, Friday evening, where he will spend the week-end on business for both organizations.

Mr. Slackford also expects to become a notary public, in order to handle the notary work for Auto club members who wish to secure bills of sale under the newly passed Atwood antitheft bill, and will call on Secretary James of the Ohio State Automobile Association. He will also visit the company which is manufacturing the radiator emblems for the local club, and attempt to speed up a contingent ordered some time ago.

GOLF AND HOW TO PLAY IT By Chas. Chick Evans

WOMEN GOLFERS

It is a fine sign of these health-appreciating times that the number of women golfers is growing tremendously. May their number increase.

I have been privileged to play mixed foursomes with a number of the best women golfers in the country. I have observed some really remarkable play by them and I should like to pass along here a number of good ideas and suggestions which I have gathered for women players. Any girl or woman who has ever played tennis or basket ball must have the athletic instinct in her and should become an excellent golfer with practice. So far as I have observed the only limitation to a woman's game as compared to a man's is in the distance which she can get in driving. Aside from this handicap a practiced woman golfer can offer interesting competition to most men.

From my observation and from discussions I have had on the subject with prominent women golfers I believe that may ladies make a mistake in starting the game with the idea that their play must be different from that of men. Even the clubs which a woman uses need differ little from those of a man. Weight, length, etc., naturally should vary somewhat with the physical endowments of the particular player but the main principles of golf are the same for women as for men. The stance, and grip should be a duplicate of that prescribed for men players but with perhaps a difference in the amount of swing which a man takes on most clubs.

Many professional instructors advise the half swing with both wooden and iron clubs but it is my conviction from seeing expert women play that they will do better to train themselves for at least a three quarter swing. By developing the three-quarter swing the arms are trained to do most of the work and that is their purpose in golf.

It is obvious that a woman cannot develop a slashing, smashing game such as many men are very skillful at, but a woman's limitations are not as marked in this style of play as many of them unfortunately believe. If a woman player gets the idea that she cannot hope to do much in free, open swinging she never attempts to develop it and her game suffers accordingly, particularly in driving.

LOVE FOR MOTHER MAY SAVE LIFE OF WOUNDED BOY

Despaired of by surgeons at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Daniel Plants of near the Montgomery county line, who is suffering from a bullet wound in his abdomen, is putting up a brave fight for life, and physicians now say, may pull through.

Although his life is hanging by a thread, the lad is sticking pluckily to it, under the plea that his mother, who sits daily by his side needs him. He says that personally he is not afraid to die.

Plants was found at his home on the Kemp Road May 9, by Charles Nock a farmer, with a bullet wound in his abdomen. He first told conflicting stories saying another boy shot him, but now says he thinks his rifle was accidentally discharged when it fell from a chair in the kitchen as he was entering the house.

JAMESTOWN GRADE TEACHERS RETAINED

All of the Jamestown grade teachers were re-elected at the same salaries they received last year, by the Jamestown Board of Education recently.

The teachers are: Miss Margaret Gilcrest, seventh and eighth grades; Miss Catherine Shickley, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Bell Nieberger; third and fourth grades; Miss Mae Harper, first and second grades; G. Williams, Principal Adams Street; Miss Dorothy Bell, Primary, Adams street.

No action was taken by the Board in regard to the High School faculty, it is said. S. S. Simpson, has resigned his position as principal of the high school but will probably be retained in the teaching force next year. Miss Edith St. John and A. L. Stingley were not applicants for their position, and their places will be supplied at a called meeting of the Board to be held in the near future.

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO THIS SUMMER?

The school year of 1920-21 is now drawing to a close. It would perhaps be interesting to note the various ways that Central High students are going to spend their summer vacation. As soon as school is out, Central High will scatter far and near, some expecting to visit friends in various neighboring states or to work. Several boys who live in town are going to be sons of the soil while even a Sophomore girl contemplates being a farmerette. Some are going to camps (military, big outdoor and private) while some who otherwise would have flunked expect to make up work.

The majority however will stay at home to keep the old town from dying until the rest get back. Last but not least, three seniors are going to get married. So whether it be work or play or studying or rest, the Review wishes all an enjoyable and profitable summer vacation.

BRIDE-ELECT IS AGAIN HONORED

Last Friday evening the charming bride-to-be Miss Florence Kelble was again honored by the Misses Elizabeth and Imogene Mullen. Cards and dancing were the main features of the evening. The guests and hostesses, Miss Kelble with gifts appropriate to the occasion. Later in the evening delicious refreshments were served, the ice cream being cut in many different ways proper for such an event. Tables were set for twelve guests including two out-of-town guests.

On Saturday evening Miss Kelble was again honored by Miss Gladys Shadack at her home on N. Detroit St. This time Miss Kelble was presented with a beautiful table cloth and a half dozen napkins. Cards and dancing were the main features of the evening while later a delicious salad course was served to twelve guests.

Lucille Denham and Millie Shaw of the Freshmen class motored to Dayton with Lucille's parents where they spent Sunday at Lakeside Park.

Everyone is getting ready for promotion exercises. It is nearing the close of the school year and everyone is working harder and putting forth a greater effort than usual. We the eighth grade hate to leave old Junior High. In trying moments they have shamed us on to the other bank. We hope we won't be a bother to any of the next year's teachers.

We are all getting ready for the exhibit May 27, 1921. We hope it will be the best yet. For Literary we are making booklets with short stories.

For English we are writing Myths. In Science we are making bird charts. Dan Aultman still holds the championship for the best, highest and greatest balls that have been knocked. We have been asked by one of our basket ball rivals for a game, but since we have no regular team we have given up the idea.

We wonder if he will take heed.

Ever ready to help us Lead us in the right way Who ever doesn't love her now? Everyone will say some. Look back over your school days—School days, dear they seem, Loo and you will find her in every school day dream.

FRESHIES LOSE ONE AND WIN ANOTHER

Freshmen lost first game to Lincoln High 21-11, and win from the Seniors 18-14. Mutterspaw and Fuller did some fine pitching for the Freshmen against Lincoln High but was backed by very poor support. Flax the new Freshman catcher was the sensation of the game with nifty work behind the bat. Kellar, Fuller and Yeakley started at the bat for the Freshmen, Yeakley led the Freshmen in scoring. He scored three runs one of which was a circuit drive. Wiggington started a circuit drive. Wiggington started a run for Lincoln. He was very wild and walked a good many men.

He was taken out in the second and Taylor finished the game. With a single exception every player scored a run. Corbett, Stoffer and Taylor led in hitting each scoring four runs apiece for Lincoln.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS TO BE SAVED RAILROADS BY SIMPLE DEVICE.

About $1,600,000 will be saved annually by the Pennsylvania Railroad by means of a small and simple device which will be attached to the locomotives.

The Pennsylvania is the first railroad in the United States to employ the mechanism, which has been used by a few European companies with great success. The P. R. R. mechanical engineers have experimented with the apparatus two years and, in the last six months, have developed it to a point where the management feels it should be put to general use. A few locomotives already have been equipped with the appliance, and engineers of the company say its effect surpasses expectations.

The machine consists of a small pump connected with a steam chamber. It is placed at the side of the locomotive engine, taking up very little space.

The device takes a portion of the steam which ordinarily goes to waste through the smokestack and uses it to heat the water which goes into the boiler. In other words, it makes new steam with old.

As you know, it requires a certain amount of heat to make boiling water into steam. Instead of using coal to produce this heat the engine equipped with the new apparatus derives the excess heat from its own steam. Part of the steam usually wasted is diverted to the chamber. Boiling water is also brought into that chamber and mixes with the hot steam. The water thus heated to what engineers call "state" is forced into the boiler by the pump. Result, new steam. You see, it is an endless chain.

The device, which is a development of the Worthington Pump Co., is one of the greatest money savers invented in many years. It will save 8 per cent of the coal on a stationary machine and 12 per cent on a running engine; roughly speaking, an average of 10 per cent. The Pennsylvania Railroad spends about $16,000,000 for coal each year. This little piece of machinery, therefore, will effect an economy of $1,600,000 annually.

It looks very simple and very practical. Why hadn't you or I thought of it before?

POLISH IMPERIALISM.

It is well that Americans should understand clearly the present situation in Poland, lest their sympathies be gained by false pretense and the real welfare of Poland be prejudiced.

The attempt made by large Polish forces to seize extensive regions of Upper Silesia is an unofficial movement on the part of irregular troops, acting in defiance of the Polish government just as much as in defiance of the League of Nations. Moreover, it is not engaged in "redeeming" territory that is demonstrably Polish. It is trying to seize an area which voted to remain with Germany, in the recent plebiscite, and which was awarded to Germany accordingly by the plebiscite commission. Its operations are intended as nothing less than conquest, and a peculiarly dangerous form of conquest, at that.

The Polish-government undoubtedly realizes the danger involved by this rash exploit. Germany is naturally inflamed against Poland. Russia has always been hostile, and the bolshevist government might welcome any pretext or any new sign of weakness for another attack on Poland. If the Poles can not cultivate the friendship of either of their powerful neighbors, they must at least walk warily, lest they invite destruction. The allies are their friends; but the allies are far away.

THE FAILURE OF MOTHERS.

"The mothers of the nation are not making good on their jobs," said a school superintendent the other day before the child welfare department of a federation of women's clubs. "Indifference on the part of parents toward the activities of their children is one of the greatest problems in immorality, and it is always admitted that the women set the standard. I urge you to tell the members of your organization that it is up to the women to set higher standards of morality and home ideals."

These are strong words. But they are true. A great deal of what is called immorality among the young people of today is not really immoral, if morals go back to motive. There is no guilty motive among these children of a new age, but there are loose and bad manners and lack of proper restraints.

The parents are bewildered by the new standards the young people are setting up for themselves. Their old maxims are disregarded and they cannot adjust themselves to the new conditions.

This is where fathers and mothers ought to go into serious session as to what are the fundamentals of conduct. If they would ask themselves quietly what is the purpose of life anyhow? Just how do the late hours, the riotous conduct, the disrespect for all old things interfere with the purpose of life? What is the real reason why silly, ugly, suggestive dress is bad?

The reason mothers are failing, and fathers, too, is that they do not take time and trouble to think out squarely to their conclusions. A little more of this, and things will get better.

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF ALBRECHT DURER

May 21, 1471

Among the names of the painters of northern Europe during the great period of art, that of Albrecht Durer stands among the first. He was one of the few geniuses of his time who carried the Renaissance to the northern European countries.

His father was a goldsmith of Nuremberg, who married a girl of 15 and had the remarkable number of 18 children! Albrecht was the second of this lot. It took a great deal of money to feed such a family even in those days of cheap prices, so there was little to spare toward making an artist of Albrecht. However, he was apprenticed to a goldsmith, which in those days not only assured a trade but was the first step in studying art.

According to custom, he spent a year wandering the country on foot, at the end of his term of service. Then he went to Italy, determined to study painting. His genius and his knowledge of the goldsmith's trade, made it quite natural for him to take to engraving, a new art then and in enormous demand since books were being printed and illustrated in those days and engravings were wanted.

Durer acquired a great reputation and a great deal of money, which his very greedy wife took away and hoarded. His fame went all over Europe, his paintings and engravings commanding great prices. He was a friend of the great emperor Maximilian. His pictures are greatly prized today by museums and art collectors.

Practical Business Talks

RIGHT AMOUNT OF WORK.

Most forms of greed defeat their own purpose. For example consider that particular form of greed which some employers close when they insist upon long onerous hours of labor.

This type of individual is sometimes referred to as a slave-driver. Nothing makes him happier than to find some pretext to make his employees work over-time.

But like all other forms of greed and avarice this idea defeats its purpose. There is the law of diminishing returns. Production per hour falls off when the number of hours is increased. A bookkeeper on a fourteen hour basis can accomplish little more than one on a ten hour basis. When the human machine begins to tire, as it does during long hours of labor, its activity is lessened and its production curtailed.

In some factories where the experiment has been tried, it has been found that men on an eight hour basis can produce as much as men on a twelve hour basis. Men who work only a reasonable number of hours, have time for recreation. And recreation literally re-creates their energies, restores their health and intensifies their keenness and vigor and enthusiasm. Then, too, their morale is better, their spirit happier and all these elements affect the volume and quality of work performed.

The average man likes to work, provided he is not over-worked. He will do his best provided he is properly and justly treated.

See that your workers are assigned to tasks which they are fitted for and which they enjoy. People tire easily at work they do not like. They labor cheerfully at employment they are naturally fitted for and which they like.

Shakespeare wrote: "To business that we love, we rise better time, and go to with delight."

GREAT CHANCES.

The mails with documents are loaded, describing snaps I ought to nail; by glib-tongued salesmen I am goaded and asked to dig my hard-earned kale. For wealth untold I always hanker, and I'd be buying gold bricks strong, but for the wise old village banker who tells me when I'm headed wrong. He deals in coin, and coin's his study, he's wise to all investment tricks, and he explains, in language ruddy, how games are played on easy hicks. When I approach the paying teller, to draw out all the coin in view, the banker leads me to the cellar, and asks me what I plan to do. And when I say I am intending to buy an oil well down in Maine, he lectures me, much wisdom lending, until again I'm safe and sane. He knows I have distorted vision where money matters are concerned; I'm always having dreams elysian of roublies gained that were not earned. And so on me he's keeping cases, he shields me from the get-rich fake, when he beholds some hectic traces of punk investments I would make. Before the cold-eyed village banker the glib and oily faker squirms; he is my helm, my jib and spanker, if you'll forgive these sailor terms. He is my binnacle and anchor; my larboard watch and starboard clock; I owe it to the village banker that all my goods are not in hock.

Walter E. McGervay, former Xenian, who has been president of the East Dayton Savings and Banking Company, becomes vice president of the Dayton Savings and Trust Company through the completion of a deal by which the latter company acquires all the interests of the former banking concern.

The business of the East Dayton Savings and Banking Company will continue as in the past, but will be operated as branch of the Dayton Savings and Trust Company. NIGHT FIRE THREATENS NEW BURLINGTON

BLAZE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN DESTROYS BARNS NEAR TOWN

The village of New Burlington was threatened by fire early Saturday morning, when flames from an unknown origin entirely destroyed three barns, and partially destroyed a fourth.

The blaze started in the barn owned by Dr. William McRay, and when discovered by a company of young people, who were returning from a party in the neighborhood, was rapidly sweeping toward the barns of George Reeves, John Hawkins and Mrs. Josephine Blair.

A machine left in the McRay barn, belonging to Phillip Herman, was entirely destroyed along with a silo, a horse, calf, pig and a number of chickens. A fire in the Reeves barn consumed a quantity of wool and a number of chickens. Fortunately the Hawkins barn did not contain any live stock destroyed. The barn of Mrs. Josephine Blair which also caught fire was saved by the quick work of neighbors who tore the weatherboarding from the structure.

The total amount of damage to the three barns has been estimated as nearing $2,200. The McRay barn was damaged to the extent of $1,500, the amount of which was partially covered by insurance. The Reeves barn was damaged to the extent of $100, none of which was covered by insurance. The Hawkins barn, which was uninsured, was damaged to the amount of $500. The damage to the Blair barn was slight, only one corner being touched.

The citizens of the village aroused by the flames fought the blaze by forming a bucket brigade. It was thought for a time that the entire village would be destroyed, and calls were sent to the Xenia and Wilmington fire departments, neither of which responded to the calls.

The blaze was extinguished about 2 o'clock in the morning. The smoldering flames were watched by the neighbors, insuring against further damage, from sparks that flew from the burning buildings. The absence of wind during the night saved the village from a more serious conflagration, it is thought.

SAYS AUTO DRIVERS SHOULD EXERCISE MUCH MORE CARE

Only one out of every four automobile drivers uses the necessary precautions for safety at railroad grade crossings, according to C. W. Galloway, vice president in charge of the maintenance of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. His statement is based on careful observations made at grade crossings by the safety department of the Baltimore & Ohio in the four years 1917-1920, inclusive.

"Despite all the active warfare that has been waged to combat this evil," says Mr. Galloway, "the railroads of this country are confronted by the fact that such casualties have been increasing. In the four year period from 1917 to 1920 inclusive on all the railroads of United States, 4200 persons were killed at grade crossings in automobile accidents and 12750 persons were injured. This is an average of three persons killed every day and eight injured every day of this four-year period. It is an unnecessary waste of humanity for the nation."

Discussing the situation with relation to his own road, Mr. Galloway said that it was a physical and financial impossibility to eliminate all grade crossings and he asserted that it would not be until drivers of all vehicles which use Baltimore & Ohio grade crossings give 100 per cent cooperation that such accidents will be decreased as rapidly as they should.

From reports of grade crossings accidents on the Baltimore & Ohio during the year 1920, he continued "We learn that 15 per cent occurred where there were watchmen on duty, 17 per cent where there were automatic electric bells in perfect working condition and 58 per cent where there were warning signs.

The automobile driver is not asked to undergo any hardships in co-operating with us. We simply ask him to be careful at crossings in order that he may avoid injury or loss of life. We are trying to make him understand that he should not trust his life entirely to a crossing watchman who is liable to err; to an automatic safety bell which may fail at the critical time. To stop, look and listen is an old warning, but it is a most effective preventive if needed.

"Since the observation campaign was inaugurated by the Baltimore & Ohio in the fall of 1919 up to and including the month of March 1921, there have been 100,000 observations made. In the beginning the per cent of failures of motor car drivers to observe the safety rules in the short period of 1919 was 25; failures in 1920 were 16 per cent.

For the first three months of this year Mr. Galloway reported that failures to observe the safety rules decreased even further. In January there were 5 per cent in 8,000 observations; in February there were 4 per cent in 17,000 observations, and in March they were 6 per cent out of 23,000 observations.

The Baltimore & Ohio intends to push its campaign even more vigorously from now on.

DAIRY BUSINESS TO SET NEW RECORD

With early pasture in abundance and larger herds of cows than ever before, there is every indication that the dairy business in this section will establish a new high record this year.

Some idea of the magnitude of the dairy industry in this part of the state may be gleaned by the information that the Sunlight Creameries of Washington C. H. has increased its churning capacity fifty percent over last year and produces at the rate of 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 pounds of dairy butter annually or upward of 150,000 pounds weekly. In addition the plant manufactures large quantities of ice cream for distribution within a large area.
